

Sentences using Step 1 – 5 letter sounds
and 1-60 tricky words

When I grow up I want to be a teacher.

A small mouse chewed a hole in her fur coat.

The gentleman rescued the boy
from the river.

“Take your raincoat because it might rain before you get home,” said Granny.

The two of you should help to put the peanuts on the tables.

“Would you phone me when you arrive at your granddad’s house?”
asked Dad.

“Have any of you seen the dolphins at the zoo?” asked the teacher.

They were due to arrive on Thursday.

“When would be the best time to go and see the elephants?” asked the girl.

They saw the fire quickly and put it out.

They put their cups and saucers back on the shelf.

The thunder and lightning frightened their dog.

He put his seat belt on in the car.

The sun came out and the snowman started to melt.

The two children dressed up as a prince and princess.

“Are there any more faulty electric plugs?” asked the man in the factory.

It is easy to get lost in the city because there are so many roads.

Why does it take so long for the ice to melt?

You can go on the stage when you are twenty years old.

The magic show was very exciting.

There are four of us in our family.

“How many of you would like to go to a butterfly farm?” asked the vicar.

I fear that he drives the car too quickly on this icy road.

“Would any of you like to see the clowns at the circus?” asked my uncle.

You should turn right at the next crossroads.

Please put your other books in the bookcase.

You need to put the blanket in the tent before it rains.

“Does anyone think we should have a drink before starting to play another game?” asked the boy.

“Have the twins made their beds?” asked Granny.

He should take some cakes with him when he goes to visit his granddad.

How many more tins do the think we can get into the box?

We were late because Ben insisted that he wanted to have a shower.

“Are there any more of you who could cook some burgers for the scouts?” asked the scout leader.

What does it mean?

They took off their trainers because they didn't want to make the carpet dirty.

The lamp is faulty because the wire has broken.

“Put this sun cream on before you get sunburnt,” said the doctor.

What does he want to do for his birthday?

“How many more times must I tell you not to jump on your bed?” said Granddad.

I saw her put the toys away.

“Where were the other children going when it got dark?” asked Dad.

We want to take the other dog out before I get too tired.

Two add two is four.

Are there many more children coming to your birthday party?

He goes to the show every week.

“What should you do to put it right?” asked the teacher.

Come in before you get too cold.

They saw two other dogs fighting in the park.